

Argentine in Control of Military

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi moved today to outlaw all Peronist activity in Argentina again in an effort to stave off military leaders angered by the election gains of the ex-dictator's followers.

Government sources said Frondizi was drafting a decree to nullify all victories of Peronist candidates who scored a nationwide sweep in gubernatorial and congressional elections Sunday.

Frondizi already has decreed federal control in five of the 10 provinces where followers of deposed dictator Juan D. Peron governships and placed army commanders in temporary control.

The beleaguered president was reported drafting a new decree which would not only cancel out Peronist election victories but ban singing of Peronist songs, displaying of Peronist banners and any other demonstrations by followers of the ex-president.

Frondizi moved swiftly as a two-headed regime emerged in the nation threatened with civil chaos. The president struggled to keep his four-year-old civilian regime alive, but across the street from his executive mansion in the War Ministry, the chiefs of the armed services forged a three-man junta to coordinate military plans to deal with the gravest crisis Argentina has faced since Peron's ouster in 1955.

The military was reported split between a faction apparently satisfied with the measures Frondizi was taking and another group demanding absolute repudiation of all Peronist movements immediately, backed up by military force if necessary.

Frondizi displaced the governors of five of the provinces in which the Peronists won control and put the local army commanders in.

Loses His Fight Against Polio

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Debbie Dains, struck down by polio when he was four months old, fought the paralysis for 12 hard years.

In 1954 he was the brave poster boy for the National Polio Foundation. He was four years old then.

During the past year he had to have four major operations. He died Sunday night in Salt Lake General Hospital.

Debbie's given name was Delbert Ray. He was one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Dains of Gooding, Idaho.

Reservists at Ft. Polk Told to Stop Meets

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—Disgruntled reservists and National Guardsmen at this sprawling military reservation in west central Louisiana are under orders to stop protest meetings.

The order from Maj. Gen. Harold B. West, commanding general of Ft. Polk and a reservist himself, came on the heels of four meetings at which between 50 and 300 soldiers talked about organizing a letter-writing campaign to Congress to find when they would be released.

West's order was contained in a letter read to all troops at reveille Monday.

A spokesman said military policemen would break up any attempts at meetings and escort soldiers back to their company areas.

West said military personnel desiring to write their congressmen "may do so in the privacy of their barracks and must employ respectful language."

Ft. Polk was reactivated last fall to receive about 21,000 troops called to active duty because of the Berlin crisis. All units are reserve and National Guard outfits mainly the 48th National Guard Armored Division of Texas. There are about 6,000 from 17 other states.

Normalcy Returns to Fordyce

FORDYCE, Ark. (AP)—An air of normalcy has returned to this southwest Arkansas lumbering community, which was stunned by the recent invasion by 30 Internal Revenue Service tax agents.

During the height of the 12-day tax auditing procedure, which ended last Friday, business in Fordyce and Dallas County, population 10,522, reportedly dropped off 50 per cent.

"As far as I know," Mayor Thomas Wynne said Monday, "business has returned to normal. . . it was just a matter of time I guess."

The IRS told townsfolk the audit was "an experimental thing" and an effort to see if such an operation could be useful.

One disgruntled resident griped after having his tax returns audited: "It seems to us the tax people themselves don't know what it's all about."

Most just quietly hoped their returns were correct.

Wynne, an attorney and tax consultant, estimated that 1,000 returns had been audited.

The mayor wasn't among those whose returns were audited, but as a tax consultant he noted that now "people are more cautious in what they are putting down as deductions."

Some felt maybe this was the reasoning behind the experiment.

Youths Nabbed for Crime Spree

FORREST CITY (AP)—Five Forrest City youths accused in a two-week crime spree involving seven break-ins were released after a hearing here Monday.

Municipal Judge Olmon Hargraves let the youngsters, ranging in age from 14 to 16, remain in jail for two hours. Meanwhile he conferred with parents and other relatives of the boys, and the guardian of one boy.

The boys were charged with burglary, petty and grand larceny. Judge Hargraves deferred sentencing, but reminded the boys that they can still be sentenced in the next three years if they break the law again.

He placed the boys under a 6 p.m. curfew to last until the current school semester ends. At that time the curfew will be lifted to 10:30 p.m. The boys also were ordered to pay back out of their allowances the money stolen in the break-ins, about $200.

Import Duty Increased on Some Items

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has decided to increase import duties on carpets and certain kinds of glass while maintaining existing tariffs on ceramic mosaic tile and baseball gloves.

Kennedy, in announcing the decision Monday, accepted Tariff Commission recommendations to: "Increase the duty on Wilton and velvet or tapestry carpet imports from 21 to 40 per cent of their value."

Kenney said that, in the case of ceramic mosaic tile and baseball gloves, there was insufficient evidence to justify conclusions that imports had seriously injured the domestic industry.

The increases, the first approved by the Kennedy administration, principally affect Belgium and Japan.

Belgium is the leading source of Wilton and velvet carpet imports and sheet glass. The products are Belgium's chief exports to the United States.

Japan also supplies both and is the principal exporter to this country of ceramic tile and baseball gloves.

The Tariff Commission had recommended duties from 60 to 90 per cent on ceramic and mosaic tile. The rate now is 21.19 per cent.

The commission also recommended doubling the 15 per cent duty on baseball gloves.

The increases were granted under the escape clause of the present tariff law. An administration spokesman said the decision demonstrated, in connection with the President's proposals to cut tariffs, that Kennedy would not permit serious injury to U.S. industry.

Lions Broom Sale Monday, April 2

The Hope Lions Club will have its annual broom sale Monday, April 2, starting at 5 p.m. Lions will call on you to offer regular brooms and mops for $1.50 and large warehouse type brooms for $2.00.

Lion Wallis Monroe is in charge of the project and he says the club hopes to sell 1,000 items. The brooms are made in Arkansas and proceeds are used for the sight conservation and blind fund. Remember, a Lion will call on you Monday, April 2 at 5 p.m.

County Purchasing Law Considered

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The executive committee of the Arkansas County Judges Association has asked the attorney general to help draft a "fair and equitable county purchasing law."

"We have been accused of paying too much for materials," said Little River County Judge Ray Sikes of Ashdown Monday. "What we want is our counties to be protected against competitive prices. It's been alleged that some counties paid up to $2,000 more for a piece of machinery."

Sikes said the committee also would discuss a proposed new study of secondary federal-aid roads in the counties by the state Highway Department. The study is designed to determine feasibility of bringing the roads into the state highway system.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock has issued the following severe weather alert for extreme south-west Arkansas:

Thunderstorms are now moving across southcentral Oklahoma and north-central Texas. They are expected to increase in intensity later this morning and this afternoon. A few severe thunderstorms with strong gusts of wind and hail, and an isolated tornado or two are expected in an area 60 miles either side of a line from Waco, Texas to 30 miles south of Fort Smith, Arkansas from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. today.

Girls Seek U. S. Junior Miss Title

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Fifty-one pretty girls from all parts of America come to their first hurdle tonight in their quest for the title of America's Junior Miss 1962.

The girls, all high school seniors 16 to 18 years old gathered last weekend for a few days of fun and formal entertainment in this picturesque old Southern city.

Monday night they rode through city streets in a parade led by Mary Fran Luecke of St. Louis, Mo., the current America's Junior Miss.

Carolyn Anne Rawlings of Stuttgart is Arkansas' entry.

Tonight, the girls go before judges for consideration in one of the four divisions — mental alertness, creative and performing arts, youth fitness, and poise and appearance.

Each girl will compete in one division on each of the three nights of preliminary judging. Judges will select the girl they consider tops for the mental alertness award.

At stake is several thousand dollars in scholarships. The winner will receive a $6,000 scholarship to the college of her choice.

Mosier Says Woman Told About Affair

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—State Police Sgt. Milton Mosier testified in Circuit Court today that Mrs. Juanita Dittmars admitted to him that she had been having an affair with another man at the time of her husband's death.

She is on trial for first degree murder in the fatal shooting of her husband, State Trooper Jack Dittmars, 31, last Sept. 14.

Mosier said he, Deputy Pros. John Goodson and Deputy Sheriff Pete Harrison talked to the 29-year-old Mrs. Dittmars at the County Jail the morning after the shooting.

Mosier said he asked her what happened. He said she replied, "My God, I don't know. But you know me and J. C. have been having trouble."

The sergeant testified that Mrs. Dittmars said she had admitted her affair to her husband. He said he had discussed the Dittmars' marital troubles with Jack Dittmars prior to the shooting.

Mosier said Mrs. Dittmars refused to identify the other man.

Police Chief Max Tackett testified he had recommended to two State Police officials that Dittmars be transferred from Texarkana. Tackett said he had heard rumors of the Dittmars' family troubles.

Teachers Withdraw Their Libel Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Thirty-nine teachers withdrew their $3,900,000 libel suit from Circuit Court here Monday.

The teachers were among 44 school employees discharged in May, 1959, by three segregationist members of the school board.

The three board members were later recalled in a special election, and the teachers were retained.

The suit was against the Rev. M. L. Moser Jr., who was chairman of the Committee to Retain Our Segregated Schools, and Ed McKinley Jr., president of the school board and one of the three board members recalled.

British Ready to Compromise With Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP)—Britain announced today it is ready to accept an "absolute minimum" of control machinery if the Soviet Union will agree to a treaty banning nuclear weapon tests.

The British foreign secretary, Lord Home, appealed to the Soviet government at the 17-nation disarmament conference for a "reasonable compromise" of East-West differences.

Home said Britain recognizes that the Soviet Union had gained "military knowledge and advantage" from its series of nuclear tests last fall.

Britain is prepared to let the Soviet Union keep its advantage, he said, if tests can now be ended forever under a pact providing "an adequate minimum system" of verification to guard against violations.

"We will cooperate both in the field of nuclear tests and of general disarmament in devising the absolute minimum of verification there must be, for without it we shall not gain the confidence even to begin to ban tests let alone tackle the problems of wider disarmament."

Home's speech appeared to confirm reports that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government is pressing the United States to cut back radically its demands on the Soviets for machinery to police a test ban. Diplomatic officials say the two Western Governments are still trying to figure out exactly what they can agree on.

American sources say the United States insists that international verification of a test ban, including international inspectors inside the Soviet Union, is indispensable. Indications are that the British would agree to much less policing than the United States.

Western diplomats at the 17-nation disarmament conference speculated that Gromyko had received new instructions from Premier Khrushchev to keep East-West talks going on Berlin as well as on a nuclear test ban treaty and disarmament issues generally.

Gromyko took the initiative Monday in arranging a brief meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. It was understood the Russian advanced some ideas for dealing with the Berlin situation.

These were due to be explored further at a dinner Gromyko arranged tonight for Rusk and other members of the U.S. delegation to the Geneva conference, including Soviet expert Charles E. Bohlen and the U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson.

Gromyko's move on Berlin came at the end of a day during which Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin announced the Soviet Union was ready to join in new talks with the United States and Britain on a nuclear weapon test ban treaty.

Neither of the developments brought any indication of basic changes in Soviet policy. Western officials professed to be encouraged because Gromyko wanted to keep the diplomatic talks going on all fronts here.

The 17 nations in the disarmament conference scheduled two sessions today.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon and Romanian Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu were the speakers for the first session.

The second meeting was arranged as an informal discussion of the similarities and differences between the Soviet and Western disarmament plans.

At a similar informal session Monday Rusk, who plans to return to Washington early next week, said he would be willing to return to Geneva any time it appeared that the presence of foreign ministers here would help to speed the negotiations toward.

Voting in Bond Election Slowed Some by Rainfall

Rainfall held down voting in the special bond election here this morning but balloting was expected to pick up considerably during the noon hour and in the late afternoon.

At 11 a.m. a check of the six polling precincts in Hope showed a total of 289 had voted.

The single issue on the ballot is for or against a bond issue totaling $245,000. If the issue passes Delight Egg Farm will borrow $225,000 to construct an egg processing plant near Hope. Under an agreement Delight Egg Co. will repay the loan at the rate of $15,000 per year. Some $20,000 will be held in reserve to service the bond in event of default.

The two mill accompanying tax will only be collected in the event Delight Egg Co. defaults on annual payments. The issue has been debated at length for several weeks and today's vote will decide the issue. At 11 a.m. here's how the voting went:

Woman on Trial for Murder

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—The prosecution was expected to call four witnesses today in the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Helen Gene Hickenbottom, 39.

Mrs. Hickenbottom is accused of fatally shooting her husband, Kenneth, 44, at their home north-east of here last Christmas night.

The defense contends the shooting occurred when an intruder entered the Hickenbottoms' home and threatened Hickenbottom.

Officers said at the time the intruder was identified by the victim's wife as Hickenbottom's brother, Bill Hickenbottom.

Prosecutor Joe Villines said Monday as the trial opened, that paraffin tests made on the night of the shooting indicated the victim's wife had fired a gun while Bill Hickenbottom had not.

Claude Turney, a church furniture manufacturer and former employer of the accused, testified Monday that Mrs. Hickenbottom came to his house the night of the shooting, barefoot and dressed in underwear.

Turney told the court that Mrs. Hickenbottom had told him there had been a shooting at her home but that generally her conversation was incoherent and rambling.

Tabernacle Revival in Progress

Revival services continue this week at the First Assembly of God with Evangelist W. Thurmond Fountain. Meetings are held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily except Saturday.

"The meetings have been well attended during the past week," reports Rev. W. C. Land, pastor.

The morning services throughout the week are Bible studies giving special attention to the Book of Revelation. Evangelist Fountain is the instructor.

The service tonight will give special emphasis to youth with Rev. Fountain demonstrating what happens when a criminal is electrocuted.

Friday, the evening service is scheduled to be a family night. The emphasis will be placed on the whole family worshipping God together.

This special series of meetings will be climaxed with an evangelistic rally on Sunday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Final Rites for Mrs. Jenie City

Final rites for Mrs. Jenie Green City, 82, member of a pioneer Hempstead family who died Saturday, were held yesterday at Ozan Methodist Church. Burial in Herndon-Cornelius was in St. Paul Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Elmer Hartness, Earl Robins, Stoman Goodlett, Dannie Hamilton, Tony Rowe and Norman Bradford.

Bill Signed to Protect Pension Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed—and praised—legislation designed to safeguard pension and welfare funds.

In a White House ceremony, Kennedy described the legislation as extremely important in protecting pension and welfare interests of 44 million workers.

He called the bill "most desirable from the public viewpoint," and said beneficiaries of pension and welfare funds now will be able to look to the future with confidence.

The ceremony was attended by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg and congressional leaders who had a hand in handling the legislation.

Kennedy signed the bill with more than a score of pens. He then handed out the pens to those on hand.

The measure adds enforcement powers to the 1958 Disclosure Act which required managers of pension and welfare plans to file periodic reports on their operations with the secretary of labor, but gave him almost no power to uncover or deal with abuses.

The new bill which covers plans operated by employers or unions or ones jointly managed:

1. Authorizes the secretary to require full and accurate detail regarding the operations of the plans.

2. Gives the secretary power to investigate violations of the reporting provisions and to enforce these provisions with injunctions.

3. Requires bonding of administrators, officials and employees who handle funds and properties. In effect, a bond of 10 per cent of the amount of funds handled is required.

4. Provides criminal penalties for offering, accepting or soliciting bribes or kickbacks in administering the plans, for making false statements in the reports, or for stealing or embezzling plan funds or property.

The bribe provision carries a maximum penalty of three years in prison and $10,000 fine, the false statement and theft provisions five years and $10,000.

Record Crowd Enjoys Fried Chicken

A record breaking crowd of students at the Hope Jr.-Sr. High and Elementary Schools devoured more than 420 pounds of fried chicken Thursday in the first School Lunch Salute to the Arkansas Fryer.

"This special lunch featuring oven-fried chicken was served at the usual rate of 25 and 30 cents," said Mrs. N. W. Denty, cafeteria supervisor.

In addition to more than two ounces of cooked meat, the lunch included buttered rice, peas and carrots, hot rolls, butter, apple sauce and milk. Such a meal meets the Type A lunch standard of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and provides the student with about half of his daily nutritional needs.

The school lunch salute to the Arkansas Fryer was a statewide event sponsored by the School Lunch Division, State Dept. of Education, Arkansas School Food Service Assn. and the Arkansas Poultry Industry.

Chiropractic Case Refused by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court refused today to interfere with a Pulaski Chancery Court proceeding against the two North Little Rock chiropractors accused by the State Medical Board of practicing medicine without a license.

The court denied a petition for writ of prohibition filed by the Arkansas Chiropractic Association, an intervenor in the case.

The chiropractors are Drs. William E. Kuhl and Robert J. Kuhl. After the chancery court proceeding was filed, the state Board of Chiropractic Examiners, revoked the chiropractic licenses of the Kuhls. The Kuhls appealed this action to Pulaski Circuit Court.

The Arkansas Chiropractic Association contended in the petition to the Supreme Court to Chancery Court should not hear its suit until the Circuit Court action is litigated.

The Supreme Court said revocation of licenses had nothing to do with the allegation that the Kuhls were practicing medicine since it involves only their practice as chiropractors.

In other cases decided today, the Supreme Court: Affirmed St. Francis Chancery Court's ruling that Walter and Jesse Smart had no basis for a suit they filed against the Forrest City Sewer Improvement District No. 1. The Smarts contended the district should be dissolved because it included land outside the city limits of Forrest City, but the Supreme Court held there was ample basis in law for a district extending beyond city borders.

Ordered a new trial in an accident-injury suit in which a Calhoun Circuit Court jury awarded William F. Humphrys a $4,000 judgment against Wright Trucking Co. and Augusta Reed, a driver for the firm. Humphrys contended the judgement was inadequate since the accident already had cost him $3,841 and he remained partially disabled as a result of it.

Dismissed an appeal by the Central Arkansas Milk Producers Association of a Carroll Circuit Court decision that Willard Smith was the owner of a truck bed used for carrying milk. The action was

BANKING ON DEATH

BY EMMA LATHEN
Illustrated by Emma Lathen

THE STORY: Arthur Schneider, president of a Boston manufacturing firm, calls on John Putnam Thatcher, vice president of the Sloan bank, to discuss a trust fund which will be distributed at the death of Schneider's aunt. One of the heirs is missing.

Chapter 2

It was therefore almost six o'clock when Thatcher returned to his work, to find it's otherwise virginal surface embellished by a note from Miss Corsa indicating that he had an appointment with Kenneth Nicolls at 11 o'clock the next morning and by a memorandum from Nicolls himself. As he picked it up, Thatcher reflected that the familiar yellow papers represented a rush job; Nicolls had obviously been galvanized by the imminence of his direct contact with the august head of the trust department. He settled down to read.

"The terms of the trust do not permit any distribution of income. All income is to be reinvested and added to the principal. Upon the death of the last surviving child of Klaus Arthur Schneider, the entire trust corpus is to be distributed to his grandchildren (or to their issue in the case of death). The grandchildren do not share equally but take per stirpes—that is, equal segments of the trust follow the line of each child and the grandchildren take as representatives of their parent rather than as individuals."

Thatcher granted his dissatisfaction. He resented Nicolls' very painstaking definition of per stirpes. In his opinion, his subordinates should leave that sort of gobbledygook to the law department and say what they mean in plain English.

Klaus Arthur Schneider died in 1933 and was survived by all of his three children. The elder son, Arthur Schneider, senior, died in 1942 leaving one son, Arthur Schneider, junior, and one daughter, Grace Schneider Walworth. The younger son, Carl Schneider, died in 1936 leaving one son, Martin E. Henderson.

"In addition to the trust, which in 1932 formed a very insignificant portion of Klaus Schneider's assets, the grantor left a family business to his three children. Voting stock in Schneider Manufacturing Company was left to his two sons, and non-voting stock was left to his daughter. A year after the grantor's death, Carl Schneider sold his interest to his brother Arthur Schneider, senior. The president of the Schneider Manufacturing Company is now Arthur Schneider, junior, and Martin Henderson is vice-president in charge of sales and distribution."

Thatcher glanced over the last page again. "The children of Arthur Schneider, senior, and Hilda Henderson have all been in contact with the Sloan Guaranty Trust." The "all" confirmed his fears that the Sloan was involved with far too many Schneiders and he was still in the dark as to the rash promises that Arthur Schneider (presumably junior) had extorted from Nicolls.

He swept the memorandum together and pushed it into his brief case. Not quite what he wanted, but to do young Nicolls justice, he had pulled the information together quickly enough, considering that he had no idea why it was wanted. And presumably he would outgrow his enjoyment of technical jargon.

Most of the doors he passed stood open on dark and vacant offices. Five o'clock was the nominal closing time at the Sloan Guaranty Trust, and at five o'clock secretaries and file clerks firmly saluted their superiors and an outgrowth of a suit in which Smith got a $600 judgement against CAMPA.

Negro Man Faces Murder Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Brown Swopes, 36-year-old Little Rock Negro, was charged Sunday with murder in the death of Maxine Williams, 17, whom he said he planned to marry.

Police said the Williams girl was found Saturday lying on a bed in a Little Rock hotel with a .22 caliber bullet wound above her left eye. She died in a Little Rock hospital about two hours later.

Det. W. H. Gingerich said Swopes told him he and Miss Williams were discussing marriage plans when she became angry and threw a pistol at him. Gingerich said Swopes claimed the gun discharged accidentally.

He said Swopes is being held without bond.

Housing Units Upgraded

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The quality of housing units in Arkansas has been upgraded by 28 per cent during the past decade, the U.S. Department of Commerce said today.

The Department said about 4 per cent of the occupied housing units in the state were dilapidated or lacked some plumbing facilities in 1950.

The Department, in its release of census results in "States and Small Areas," said there were 586,552 housing units in Arkansas on April 1, 1960, an increase of 11,387 since that date 10 years ago.

There were about 4,800 trailers in the state being used as regular living quarters. Of these, 86 per cent were owner-occupied.

The Department said the majority of renter households moved into their present quarters during the last decade. Only 11 per cent of renters and 44.3 per cent of owners lived in their units before 1950.

Utility gas was termed the fuel most often used by households in urban areas for heating and cooking purposes.

continued, "And there are four grandchildren who do not share equally. Now they are—"

"Robert Schneider and Martin Henderson who gets $100,000 each because they are only children. And Arthur Schneider and his sister, who get $50,000 apiece. Of course, if Robert Schneider turns out to be dead, and has no heirs, then Martin would get $150,000, and the others would take $75,000 each."

"Yes," said Thatcher. "You said the bank had been notified of Hilda's condition. Who told us?"

"No, sir. Martin Henderson, Hilda's only child, wrote me that suggestion of the family lawyer. So I wrote back asking him for the addresses of the other heirs. Well, a few days later, he called and asked me to lunch. At the Pavilion," he said, dwelling with obvious pleasures on the recollection.

Thatcher exclaimed wrathfully. "If Martin Henderson lives in the city, and Martin Henderson gets a double slice of the trust, and it's his mother who is dying, why is it that insufferable ass, Arthur Schneider, who erupted in my office as the spokesman for this whole pack?"

Nicolls couldn't help grinning. "I suspect he likes to look on himself as the head of the family. Then, of course, he is the president of Schneiders."

"Well, never mind," Thatcher said. "Tell me about your lunch. At the Pavilion, I think you said."

It appeared that Martin Henderson had communicated with Arthur Schneider, who lived near the Schneider Manufacturing Company in Framingham, Mass. And Arthur Schneider had communicated with his sister Grace Walworth, who lived in Washington.

"I thought I had explained everything carefully," Nicolls said ruefully, "but the next thing I knew, I was getting telephone calls from Mrs. Rowland Walworth." He made an expressive gesture.

"She said . . ." prompted Thatcher.

"Well, it's hard to say. She was furious that she should have to wait to find Robert she was furious that we hadn't found Robert. And that was about all I could make out."

"What did you say?" Thatcher asked with genuine sympathy. Not everybody can deal with hysterical women.

"To tell you the truth, sir, I just made soothing noises."

It Was a Day for Real Optimists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a day for optimists, this first day of spring.

The old hopes of life and living, of planting for the future, defied the overhanging threat of nuclear warfare and the pessimism of bogged-down disarmament meetings.

A quick sampling of conversations around the Northern Hemisphere showed how people were thinking.

Harry Mervus, a London cockney, went at his spring planting with enthusiasm.

"Hitler's bombs didn't stop me," said Harry, "and I'm gonna put me in a garden just the same as always 'cause long as Englishmen plant gardens there's life and there's gonna be life as long as Englishmen plant gardens."

Citilde Dorantes, a maid in Mexico City, has stocked up on tin cans. She paints them, hangs them on a brick wall and plants pansies, violets and bachelor buttons in them.

"The rainy season is coming," she said.

Mrs. Suzue Tanaka lives near a beautiful lane cutting across Tokyo's Aoyama Cemetery. The lane turns to pink when the rows of cherry trees bordering it blossom in April. Then there is the traditional family outing.

Victor Feodorovich Isaev, 55, who manages a collective farm just south of Moscow, has made big plans for spring planting although the land is still blanketed with snow. Isaev intends to put half the 1,600 arable acres into feed crops for cattle—four times more than in the past.

"Do you think it's too much?" asked Isaev. "We are going in more for livestock."

Isaev, in changing his planting pattern, took his cue from Premier Khrushchev who reported a shortage of meat.

Doubts about next fall's vintage clouded the feelings of Italian grape-growers.

"Tons of grapes have been lost because of frozen vines," said Giuliana Fallini, 22, daughter of a north Italian wine producer. "But we expect Italians to drink as they always have in the past."

In the Southern Hemisphere, the seasons are reversed. People in Australia must dream of next spring.

Integration Suits Submitted

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A suit involving four anti-integration acts passed at a 1958 special legislative session was submitted on appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court today.

A high court ruling could come as early as next Monday.

Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed upheld one of the acts and declared three unconstitutional.

The suit was filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People with the Attorney General's office as defendant. Both sides appealed Reed's decision.

Reed upheld Act 13, which permits the Attorney General to get a search warrant whenever he feels any organization is evading state taxes.

The Chancellor overturned Act 12, which requires organizations interfering with operations of public schools to make their membership list public; Act 14, which makes paying the cost of litigation filed by others an act of barratry; and Act 16, which makes

The teen-ager who always looks spruce and pretty has done her homework in more ways than one. Here, she gives costume jewelry a bath (left) with a soft brush and warm soapsuds. Never soak costume jewelry. She washes her nylons (center) before they are worn. This removes factory finish and makes them fit more snugly. She sets aside time at the end of each week (right) to mend her clothes and make all necessary repairs.

Mama Is Still Boss

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband is a jelly fish. He looks like one, too, puny, puke and flabby. He runs from responsibility straight into the sheltering arms of his parents. They plan and rule our lives. Since he no longer works, what little money we have comes from them and—we must account for every cent. If I was ever caught in an accident I would disown myself, my underclothes are so ragged. The in-laws' answer to this is, "Go to work!" How can I with two kids, one six, the other seven?

My man just won't let go of his parents' coat tails. Given a chance to fight it out alone, we could regain our self-confidence, respect for one another and live in a happier, more Christian-like home atmosphere. The man I married who could make a living take care of me and command my respect no longer exists. His nerves are shot, mine are shot. But I'm afraid it will keep up till his folks either pack up and leave on a jaunt around the world (they've got the money to travel) or die.

All went well until my husband met with responsibility then he froze, couldn't even think for himself because his Mummy and Daddy had always thought for him. Unfortunately they live near us and Mama is still the boss. What to do is the question?—Hopeless Wife

Dear Hopeless: If your husband won't take charge, you'll have to. Get a job and, since he isn't working, let him baby-sit. Refuse to take any more money from your in-laws and, once you have a salary, begin paying them back, if only a dollar a week. It is important that you do this for your children's sake. As things stand now, they cannot possibly have any respect for you and your husband or themselves, and that is bad. Get to work!

Dear Helen: I am the friend of a 17-year-old high school girl who is forever falling in love with men many times her senior. She keeps shifting her attentions from one elderly guy to another and is now having an affair with a relative of mine.

I have pleaded in vain with her to change her ways, but she willfully persists in pursuing her own wild, dangerous course.

Don't get the idea that I'm her boy friend for I'm not, but I do hate to see her deliberately ruining her life. Please advise me how to get out of the mess and, if possible, help her.—H.

Dear H.: You can't help people unless they want to be helped. If you persist in trying to help this girl, you're likely to get into trouble.

10 Additional Cardinals Are Named

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII created 10 new cardinals today and at the same time spoke sorrowfully of the "new slavery" being established in vast regions of the world ruled by communism.

The Pope addressed a secret consistory of 30 members of the College of Cardinals who concurred in his new selections to their ranks. It was the first in a series of ceremonies that will culminate in a public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica Thursday at which the pontiff places the broad-brimmed galero—the hat symbolic of the cardinal's rank—on the head of each new prince of the church.

The appointments raised the sacred college to an all-time high of 87 members.

None of the 10 new cardinals is from the United States. Three are Italians, and two are South Americans. The others are Irish, Spanish, Portuguese, Belgian and Syrian.

In his address to the consistory, the 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church expressed profound sorrow for the condition of the church in countries where, he said, it suffered trouble and sacrifice and elementary human freedoms were lacking.

The pontiff pleaded also for greater social justice in general, mentioning especially the arduous road that confronts the new nations of the world.

The Pope expressed concern lost the condition of the church in Communist dominated lands might impede bishops from those areas from attending the Ecumenical Council of the church. It opens here on Oct. 11, a great Christian gathering expected to give new impetus to the movement for world Christian unity.

Desegregation Suit Endorsed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A suit to desegregate Little Rock's parks, auditorium, and public recreation facilities was endorsed Sunday by two Little Rock Negro organizations.

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, a group of Philander Smith College graduates, and the Provident Relief Club, a women's organization, back the suit.

A spokesman said the two groups took their stand after G. W. Blankenship, a director of the Little Rock City Manager Board, asked last week whether the suit represented the feelings of all the Negroes in the city.

Blankenship had said he thought it was not representative of Negro sentiment.

Two Injured in Pistol Battle

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Two men were injured, one seriously in the exchange of pistol shots Saturday night at Arbaugh, about 36 miles northwest of here Saturday night.

Sheriff Guy Bennett said William A. Holliday, 40, and Sid Harmon, 28, both of Fort Smith, were shot.

Holliday was reported in serious condition in a Fayetteville hospital with bullet wounds about the heart. Harmon was taken to a Little Rock hospital where his condition was listed as not serious, Bennett said.

Bennett said the hoodlums occurred at the Spencer - Collins store at Arbaugh. Reason for the incident, he said, has not been determined.

Storage Firm Incorporates

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Articles of incorporation for the Cavanaugh Storage and Transfer Co. of Fort Smith were filed today with the Secretary of State.

The firm is authorized to issue 100,000 shares of stock with $1 par value.

Incorporators are W. B. Rainwater, W. E. Rainwater, W. O. Kimbrough and M. H. Ratteport, all of Fort Smith. Kimbrough is resident agent.

W. Memphis Port Loan Approved

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—District agency approval of the application for a $320,000 loan to build a municipal airport here has been announced by Mayor Howell B. Price.

Price said the approval by the Housing and Home Finance Agency office here practically assures West Memphis of being able to proceed with development plans. Cost of the airport, he said, will be about $500,000.

Final approval of the loan, Price said, will come from the FHIA in Washington.

Guard Jets Are Back in Air

LANGLEY AFB, Va. (AP)—Air National Guard jet fighters in Arkansas and seven other states are back in the air after a brief grounding for inspection Saturday.

The Tactical Air Command ordered the jets grounded for inspection for signs of corrosion on wing flap control rods. The order was lifted the same day on the F-84F Thunderstreaks and RF-4B reconnaissance planes.

These are jeans with a whole new fashion viewpoint! They're slimmer, trimmer, far more flattering than ever before. Note the smooth hipline, the slightly dipped waist, the two front pockets that form near belt loops. (Two more pockets in back!) Even the fabric is new. It's Bosun Denim of softer, easy-care cotton in brilliant Regatta Colors with bright white stitching!

Leaders Fail to Get Vote on Poll Tax
WASHINGTON (AP)—A leadership crackdown failed today to move the Senate toward even a preliminary vote on a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish poll taxes.
Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced that committee sessions would be called off and members would be prevented from interrupting speakers except for questions. This was part of a drive to surmount a semi-filibuster by Southerners.
But Mansfield immediately broke his own rule to permit Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., to interrupt the debate to pay tribute to the late Arthur Compton, Nobel Prize scientist who helped develop the atomic bomb.
A hearing by the Constitutional Rights subcommittee on legislation affecting state literacy tests for voting was called off. But other committees held sessions despite Mansfield's announcement.
The Senate met at 10 a.m., an hour and a half earlier than usual. Mansfield said he would ask it to meet at 9 a.m. Wednesday.
Because of the early session, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., called off a hearing on a bill to make a 6th grade education the only literacy test for voters in federal elections.
Ervin is chairman of the Constitutional Rights subcommittee, which had planned to begin two weeks of hearings on the measure at 10 a.m.
Aides of Ervin's subcommittee said they did not know when it will be possible to start hearings on the bill.

charge. He also named civilian intervenors.
Early today it was learned that the military commanders were to turn over the reins of government to the civilian appointees when they reached the provincial capitals. Some military leaders were reported demanding that the military remain in control of the provinces.
The provinces put under federal control were Buenos Aires, Tucuman, Rio Negro, Santiago del Estero and Chaco.
It was understood that some military garrisons including army garrison and naval establishments had been put on the alert. Military commanders flew to Buenos Aires from all parts of the nation to confer.
Frondizi's action to appease the military touched off a chorus of protests from his own party, its allies and many foes. The mammoth General Confederation of Labor repudiated the government's action against the Peronist victory and said this had freed the union from any restraint at showing their disgust with the government.
Informed sources, 5th grad 112-t23 eliminating 7th grad: the local xx their posts and 9th grad: unconfirmed reports xx government

By SAM SUMMERLIN
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The military tightened its grip on Argentina today as civil chaos threatened the republic in the wake of Peronist triumphs in congressional and provincial elections.
Belaguered President Arturo Frondizi touched off a chorus of protests from his own party, its allies and many foes as he bowed to military demands that he nullify Sunday's election results in key provinces where followers of deposed dictator Juan D. Peron won governorships.
With a hesitant scribble of his pen, Frondizi ended a tense tug of war with the anti-Peronist military chiefs. He decreed federal intervention in five provinces and placed army commanders in control.
Taken over were the key province of Buenos Aires, which includes the capital, as well as Tucuman, Rio Negro, Santiago del Estero and Chaco.
Informed sources said it was only a matter of time before intervention was decreed for the five other provinces where Peronists won governorships with the small but vocal support of Communists and admirers of Fidel Castro.
Frondizi's decree said the action was necessary to preserve the republican form of government in Argentina.
The local news agency Saportti said the government was also preparing a decree banning Peronist activity by any party or group. This indicated that deputies elected to Congress who belong to Peronist parties or allied groups would be prevented from assuming their posts.
Election returns indicated that as many as 45 pro-Peron candidates won congressional seats and Frondizi's Intransigent Radical party lost its majority. Normally all those elected Sunday would take office May 1.
Unconfirmed reports spread that a junta had been set up by the three military services to wield control over Frondizi's government.
There was no confirmation of reports that a wholesale Cabinet reshuffle was in the works. So far the president had accepted resignations from Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, Health Minister Hector Nohia and Public Works Minister Jose Mazar Barret.
Frondizi, gaunt and tired-looking, gingerly threaded his way through a maze of military and civilian opposition in an effort to keep his four-year-old regime afloat despite the shattering blow his prestige suffered at the polls.
Peronists threatened to stage a nationwide strike.
The party committee of Frondizi's Intransigent Radical party announced that his action was "contrary to the party's adherence to fair electoral play."
The opposition Peoples Radical party, although deeply anti-Peron, was also incensed at the decree.

a successful conclusion.
The conference is under instructions from the U.N. General Assembly to report on progress by June 1. Prior to that time there may be a summit conference. President Kennedy, Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have all expressed interest in that possibility, but Kennedy has said he would be willing to attend such a meeting only if progress is first made in the disarmament talks here.
American sources said that so far nothing has occurred to make a summit conference more likely.

Forest Fire Threat Ends With Rain
By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—General rain over the state today put a temporary end to a serious forest fire threat.
State Forester Fred Lang said he would welcome another two weeks of wet weather.
"In two weeks of warm, wet weather, we'll get enough green over the state to significantly reduce the fire danger," he said. "One week probably would be enough in south Arkansas."
The forest fire threat hit a peak Saturday when 73 fires burned more than 4,200 acres of timber and brush land. Sunday had 91 fires but only 2,082 acres were burned.
Scattered showers reduced the fire danger Sunday night and only three fires, burning 55 acres, were reported in south Arkansas.
North Arkansas, which got less rain, had about 30 fires, mostly small. Three large ones in the Harrison area consumed 1,530 acres, however.
"The most encouraging thing about the situation is that we haven't had to carry over any fires," Lang said. "We're putting them out the day they are reported. So far none has been permitted to burn all night."
The weekend outbreak of fires came after almost three weeks of dry weather. Lang said the weekend period was excessively dangerous because this time is chosen for burning over pasture and cropland by landowners. Most of the forest fires start when such burning gets out of control, he said.
"We had a few showers during the last three weeks, but they didn't wet the woods down enough to eliminate the hazard," he said. "However, reports are that to do some good in all sections of the state and this is encouraging."
Lang said forest fire conditions have been relatively good from the foresters' standpoint all year. Between Jan. 1 and March 19, 1,304 fires destroyed 4,491 acres, Lang said.

Dodgers Proud of Young Shortstop

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

How ya gonna keep him down on the farm when he wins ball games for you—especially when he's 19 years old and powders 380-foot home runs?

You're not, concedes Los Angeles Angels' Manager Bill Migney.

His current phenom is rookie shortstop Jim Fregosi, from Woodside, Calif. All Fregosi has to do to nail down a job with the Angels is finish the exhibition season with a .250 batting average.

That shouldn't be too hard at the rate he's going. He whacked a 3-run inside the park home run Monday—a 380-foot shot—in the sixth inning to break a 2-2 tie and propel the Angels to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs, at Palm Springs, Calif.

Fregosi also had a single in four trips to the plate and that brought his average up to .417. Last year, he spent most of the season at Dallas-Fort Worth and finished with a .254 average and only a half-dozen homers.

Dean Chance and Jack Spring divided the pitching for the Angels, who brought their exhibition record up to 5-5.

The two New York clubs, the Yankees and the Mets, continued their streaks but in opposite directions. The world champions clobbered the Milwaukee Braves 10-4 at Fort Lauderdale, for their ninth victory without a defeat. The Mets dropped a 3-0 decision to the Baltimore Orioles at St. Petersburg to extend their losing skid to five. Skinny Brown and Tom Baker pitched the shutout.

In other games, the Boston Red Sox turned back the Cleveland Indians 2-1 at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Houston Colts outlasted the San Francisco Giants 12-9 at Phoenix; the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Kansas City A's 4-1 at West Palm Beach; The St. Louis Cardinals edged the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 at Tampa, and the Washington Senators outslug the Chicago White Sox 15-12 at Pompano Beach.

Roger Maris, who still has not had a home run, collected a double and a triple to lead the Yanks' assault.

Bob Miller and Bob Boltz combined to pitch a good game for the Mets, but they had no support. The only run came in the fifth, off Miller on Brooks Robinson's triple and a fielder's choice.

Pete Runnels broke up the Boston-Cleveland game with a 2-out single in the ninth to drive in the winning run.

The Colts combed Jack Sanford for 11 runs on 10 hits in the first four innings. And, as it turned out, they needed the barrage because the Giants came back strong.

The A's blanked the Dodgers behind Ed Rakow for six innings. Bill Fischer, who came in the seventh, was the victim of all the Dodgers' runs.

Jim Maloney, plagued by a sore arm last season, started for the Reds against the Cards and in three innings walked seven men and was tapped for three hits, good for four runs.

Washington blasted off to a 15-0 lead against the White Sox, but then fizzled and had to stagger to the triumph. Pete Daley, Dale Long and Chuck Hinton hit early homers for Washington. The White Sox collected a half dozen runs in each of the eighth and ninth with Al Smith connecting for a grand slammer and Sherman Lollar hitting a homer with two on.

DeWitt Fans Honor Fired Coach

DE WITT, Ark. (AP)—About 120 DeWitt residents, including a score of high school football players, turned out Monday night to honor Sam Cook, DeWitt's successful football coach, who was fired by the School Board last week.

In his 11 years at DeWitt High School, Cook's teams won 97, lost 23 and tied three games. In 1961 DeWitt was 9-2 and won the District 6A championship.

Cook said at the meeting that the reason for his dismissal had not been made clear to him.

"I've been accused on only one thing," he said, "and that's talking. When they fired my wife and my two assistants last year, I said it wasn't right." His wife was a teacher.

Quinn D. LaFargue Jr., who was elected chairman for the testimonial meeting, said "The sole reason we're here tonight is to recognize the fine work and the successful athletic program that our school has enjoyed in the last decade or so."

Darvin Purdy, a member of Cook's 1961 football team, said Cook "taught us to play football, to play hard and play clean, but most of all he gave us the incentive to work hard and to do good."

Adult Program May Be Revamped

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' adult education program needs revamping, a Louisiana expert said here Monday.

And, said Claude C. Couvillion of Baton Rouge, head of the Louisiana program, the state should stick to basic subjects such as reading, writing and arithmetic.

Couvillion, who initiated the Louisiana program, told the Arkansas state Education Department, the program has grown from 300 students to 10,372.

He said the initial appropriation of $25,000 had climbed to $350,000 last year.

In addition to the basic subjects, Arkansas' adult education program includes foreign languages, social studies, the arts, history and government.

Couvillion urged the Arkansas department to remove the frills and stick to the basics.

"The program is far stronger," he said, "this is something we found out in the beginning."

Jury Picked in Trial for Rape

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—An all-white jury was qualified for the death sentence Monday in the trial of Billy Maxwell, 32, Hot Springs Negro, charged with raping a white woman.

Prosecutor David Whittington told the jury the victim was attacked while at home with her aged father.

He said the assailant broke through a window and assaulted the 32-year-old woman and then dragged her outside where she was raped.

The attacker was described as wearing a silk stocking over his face.

Christopher Mercer Jr., of Little Rock, Maxwell's attorney, said he would attempt to prove there was no evidence connecting his client to the alleged crime.

Ever consider the shape of a dachshund? Well, that dog has the shape of a hot dog for a specific hunting reason. The breed was developed in Germany for the purpose of wiggling into badger dens.

Two Injured in Missouri Wreck

GRAVETTE, Ark. (AP)—Two persons injured in a Southwest City, Mo. accident Sunday that took the lives of a Gravette father and his son were listed in serious condition at a Gravette hospital today.

Killed in the head-on crash were Harvey Thurrell Roberts, 43, and his son, Harvey Duane.

Hospital officials listed in critical condition at the hospital here Miss Pauline Dollarhide, 33, of Jay, Okla., and Donald Ross Short, 21, of Southwest City.

The Highway Patrol said Miss Dollarhide was a passenger in Short's car. Police said Short's car was apparently on the wrong side of the highway.

Constitutional Salary Act Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A group calling itself the "32 in '62 Association" issued literature here Monday advocating passage of a constitutional salary act.

The salary act is one of three proposed constitutional amendments adopted by the 1961 legislature and will appear on the November election ballot.

A similar proposal was defeated by the voters in 1960.

The act provides a governor's salary of $18,000; $3,800 for lieutenant governor; $9,900 for secretary of state, treasurer and auditor; $10,800 for attorney general; and $8,020 for Land Commissioner.

It also proposed salaries ranging from $9,850 to $5,400 for county officials.

Cotton Planting to Drop Some

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Monday that Arkansas farmers may plant only 98 per cent as much cotton this year as in 1961.

The department said 1,399,000 acres of cotton are expected to be planted in the state this year.

Other Arkansas crop figures included:

Corn: 221,000 acres of 87 per cent of last year; Soybeans: 2,793,000 acres of 106 per cent; Rice: 430,000 acres or 110 per cent.

The Turk Islands in the Bahamas are believed to have derived their name from a local cactus whose flower resembles a Turkish fez.

Jockey Boots Home Four Winners

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Larry Spraker raced to the Oaklawn Park riding lead Monday, turning in four winning performances, including Rock Age in the $3,500 Fort Smith feature.

Spraker's victories also included both ends of the $203.80 daily double.

The four triumphs Monday pushed Spraker slightly ahead of fellow rolnsman Robert Nono as the Oaklawn meeting continues its fifth week.

T. C. Quisenberry and Doug Bavis Jr.'s five-year-old Rock Age scored by a half a length over August Muckler's Limbus, Marion H. Van Berg's Cable King ran third, a nose farther to the rear.

Rock Age covered the six furlong sprint in 1:11 flat to pay $7.60, $4.80 and $4.00.

The crowd of 8,343 wagered $599,845.

A capacity field of allowance division sprinters, all non-winners at Oaklawn, provide the action in today's $3,500 feature of the nine-race card.

The event will honor the Southern Equitable Life Insurance Co. Heading the lineup for the six-furlong dash is Irving Cushman's Bumpy Road, making his fourth bid for victory since starting a comeback attempt after a two-year layoff.

He will be coupled with Quisenberry's Kowtow.

W. Hal Bishop sends out an entry composed of Bold Dude and Active Charter while Van Berg, another strong believer in the one-two punch, matches him with Spring Broker and Division.

Others entered are Idle Hour Farm's Idle Star, Paul F. Adwell's Allstar, R. C. Nauman's El Zag, Lillian Bayliff and H. J. Wise's Air Pilot. Mrs. George Schneider's Royal Voyage and Earl K. Carey's Fribble.

The latter makes his first start of the season.

Spring Broker, El Zag and Kowtow share equal topweight of 120 pounds, but Bumpy Road probably will attract the bulk of support given the Gusen-Quisenberry entry.

One of the nation's top sprinters, Bumpy Road finished second in his last two outings here and gets in today's feature with the moderate impost of 111 pounds.

Wayne Chambers will be aboard Bumpy Road.

Bold Dude, another knocking at the victory door, will be handled by Nono.

Driver's License Agency Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Police Department has indicated it would like more efficient handling of drivers' licenses by placing testing, issuance, and revocation under one agency.

State Police now examine drivers for licenses, the state Revenue Department issues the permits and they are revoked by the courts.

A spokesman said Saturday that the department has studied operations in several states in this field and would recommend that one agency to handle all phases of licensing.

The spokesman said under the department's proposal to centralize controls, the traffic history of a driver, including offenses and accidents, could be recorded, State Police files now show only arrests made by state troopers.

The department, the spokesman said, would also like to see halted the practice of "dual issuance" of licenses, where a driver whose license is suspended in one county may get a new one in another county.

Alpena Must Take Down Signal Light

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that Alpena's controversial traffic light must come down.

The ruling was a victory for the State Highway Department, which has fought for more than a year to get the light removed from a highway 62 intersection.

The Supreme Court opinion affirmed Chancellor Ernie Wright who had held state law gives the Highway Commission complete authority over traffic control devices on state highways.

Mayor Frank Whitaker and the Alpena City council took the matter to court when the Highway Commission ordered the light removed.

The Alpena light first drew notice last year when a Boone County resident appealed two $10 fines for running the light to the Supreme Court. The court held the man must pay the fines, even though the light probably was there illegally.

Bradley and St. John's Open Tourney Drives

By JIM HUCKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bradley's nationally ranked Braves and St. John's of New York open their drives for the 1962 National Invitation basketball tournament title tonight against a pair of eager opponents who could prove extremely hard to handle for the two seeded powers.

Bradley (21-6) meets Duquesne (21-5) in the opener of the quarter-final doubleheader at Madison Square Garden and St. John's (19-4) plays Holy Cross (20-5) in the second game. The winners advance to Thursday night's semifinals, which also match Loyola of Chicago against Dayton.

While Bradley and St. John's were sitting out the first round with byes, Holy Cross and Duquesne were impressively busy. The Crusaders disposed of Colorado State University 72-71 in a rugged squeaker Saturday afternoon and the Dukes followed with a 70-58 rout of Navy.

Bradley's chief threat, of course, is two-time All-America Chet Walker, the versatile 6-6 star who paced the Braves to the 1960 NIT title as a sophomore. Ed Wodka, Lee Edwards and Mickey Tiemann are Bradley's other seasoned regulars, while backcourt men Lavern Tart and Rich Williams are sophomore standouts.

Willie Somerset, a bull-headed 5-10 driver, spearheads Duquesne. He showed flashes of mastery in all phases of the game against Navy, including exceptional coolness for a sophomore.

Duquesne was hardly tested against Navy and its performance was something less than inspired. But Bradley coach Chuck Orsborn was not lulled—and for good reason.

"We know how good they can be," Orsborn says. "They beat us (73-72) two weeks ago—and on our own floor."

But the Crusaders had a surprise gunner in Bob Foley, no relation to 'The Shot, who went 13 points above his average with 21 points and also was a bruiser under the boards.

Holy Cross' main project will be containing LeRoy Ellis, a 6-10 pivot with fluid moves and sprinter's speed. Ellis teams with spunky Kevin Loughery and sturdy Willie Hall up front, while Ivan Kovac and Donnie Burks handle St. John's playmaking.
